SOCIALISATION PROGRAMME — CAMPS

The Children of Heroes Fund runs a socialisation programme in which camps play a central role. The camp programme helps children who have experienced loss build resilience, develop social skills and strengthen their self-esteem. Residential camps offer a change of environment and a structured space for physical, emotional and social recovery.

Boeing has contributed $20,000 to support STEM education for children who have lost one or both parents as a result of the war. With this funding, Children of Heroes Charity Fund is delivering a nine-month educational programme that introduces children to science, technology, engineering and mathematics through practical learning.

The programme is based on an engineering approach to problem-solving. Children learn to analyse problems, develop solutions, test their ideas and work as a team. This approach strengthens critical thinking, creativity and the ability to apply knowledge in real-life situations, while introducing children to potential careers in technology and engineering. For children whose education has been disrupted by the war, access to quality learning opportunities is particularly important.

The STEM programme helps them expand their knowledge, develop practical skills and explore their interests. Boeing's support covers the delivery of lessons, programme coordination and the evaluation of results.

THE HUB OF OPPORTUNITIES FOR CHILDREN

Epicentr continues its long-standing partnership with Children of Heroes Charity Fund. In 2026, the company provided 507 sets of school supplies for learning and creative activities to children who have lost one or both parents as a result of the war. For the second consecutive year, the Epicentr team has assembled the sets themselves, ensuring they contain essential school supplies. In 2025, 427 children received similar support, bringing the total to 934 children over two years.

This support addresses a practical need for families preparing for the new school year. A quarter of the children in the Fund's care live in families facing financial difficulties. Providing school supplies helps reduce back-to-school expenses, allowing families to allocate more of their budgets to other essential needs.

This initiative is part of Epicentr's long-term partnership with the Fund, helping provide children with essential items and opportunities for their development.

TERRA HEROICA — A SPACE OF STRENGTH AND RENEWAL

The project is implemented within the framework of the “Integrated support for war-affected children, families and communities” project, funded by the European Union and implemented by the Representative Office of the Solidarity Fund PL in Ukraine within the PRO_MentalHealth Psychosocial Programme.

A total of 240 children aged 8–16 who had lost one or both parents as a result of the war in Ukraine received comprehensive psychological support during three sessions of rehabilitation camps in the Carpathian Mountains.

The programme combined psychological counselling, art therapy, sports, excursions and creative activities. In a safe environment, children learnt to manage anxiety, rebuild their trust in the world around them and rediscover the joys of childhood. The project’s particular value lies in its long-term impact on children’s emotional wellbeing, self-confidence and ability to cope with the effects of trauma.

STORY OF THE MONTH: YEHOR, 13 YEARS OLD

Yehor's family lived in Kramatorsk under constant shelling. In 2022, he lost his father, followed shortly afterwards by his grandmother. His mother, Oksana, was left caring for three children amid financial difficulties and ongoing danger. Children of Heroes Charity Fund supported the family with humanitarian aid, psychological support and educational programmes.

On 22 May 2026, Yehor suffered shrapnel injuries during an attack on Kramatorsk, which completely destroyed his bedroom. He underwent several complex operations and prolonged medical treatment. The Fund arranged psychological support for Yehor and his mother directly at the hospital and provided UAH 25,000 in emergency financial assistance, humanitarian aid, a laptop for his education, clothing and footwear. After his treatment, the family relocated to Kamianske with the help of a donor who covered UAH 40,000 in transport costs.

Since September 2026, Yehor and his family have been living in a safer city, where he continues his recovery. The Fund continues to support the family, combining emergency assistance with long-term care.

The most significant support programmes at present are:

Education and development.

This programme gives children the opportunity to realise their potential even in the most difficult circumstances.

Psychology and socialisation is one of the Fund's core areas of work, helping families access psychological support and social interaction.
